

The Language of Plants & Flowers

Apothecary Garden

LAUNCH 4 | MARCH

The first signs of spring are unmistakeable. The air feels crisper, the sun feels warmer, and early flowers bloom in bright clusters.

The overflowing borders of an apothecary garden inspire a collection that balances botanical prints with perennially useful basics. Our linen edit returns in a palette of sun-warmed tones, ready for long days in the garden.

You'll find utility details throughout, inspired by the practical chore jackets and overalls spotted between allotments and studios.

Curated, crafted and lived-in, each piece has been designed to capture the promise of brighter days ahead.

Picnic Posies

LAUNCH 5 | APRIL

A celebration of brighter days and radiant moments. Our latest collection captures the true essence of spring.

Fresh wardrobe staples have been given relaxed lines, intricate details and easy fits. Dresses with soft, windblown silhouettes layer with transitional jackets in garment-dyed linen, or semi-tucked shirts with loosely rolled sleeves.

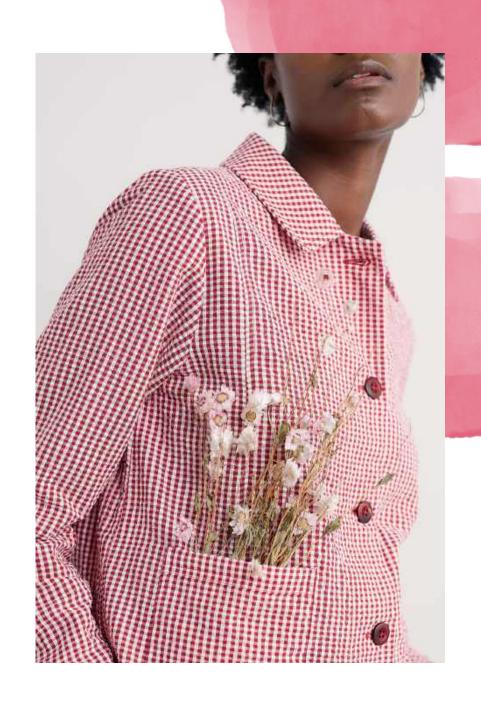

The palette is sunlit and joyful, with a contemporary nautical influence. Inky florals speak of wildflower meadows. Picnic blanket ginghams have a nostalgic charm.

The patterns are playful; the possibilities are endless.

Subtropical Flowers

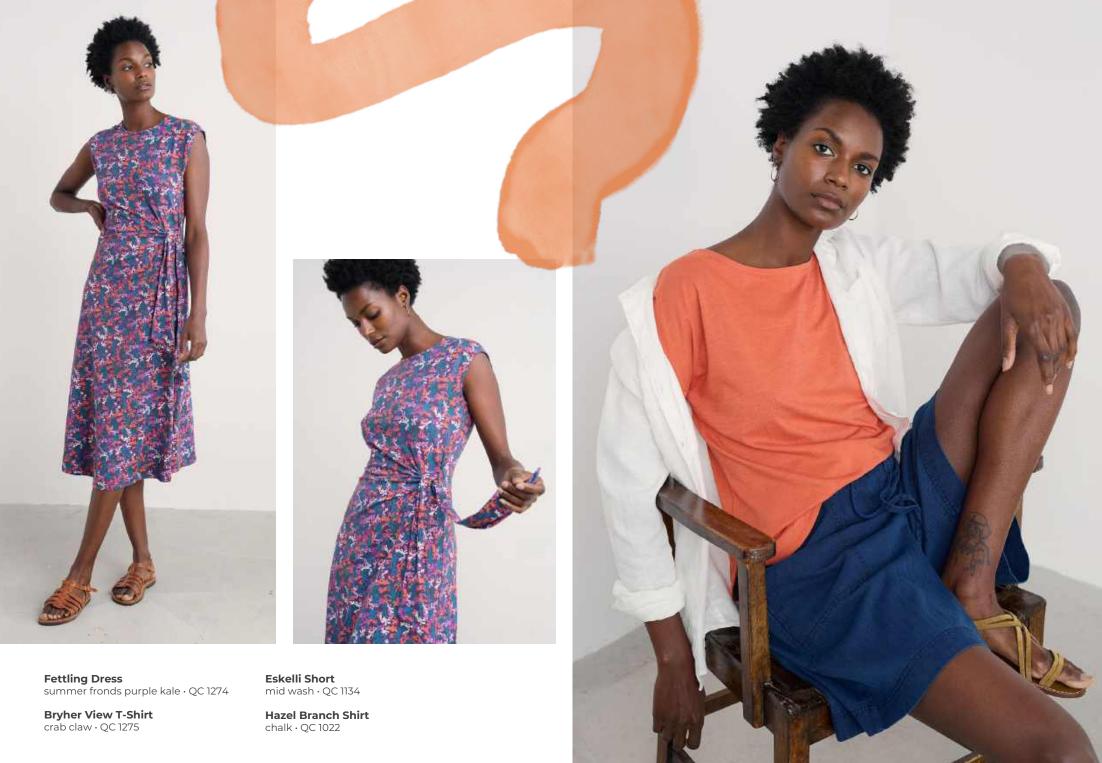

LAUNCH 7 | JUNE

Sun-drenched mornings and balmy evenings. Our high summer collection turns up the heat with a blaze of saturated colour.

The palette is picked from Cornish beachside gardens where bold flowers bloom in sandy nooks and along rocky walls. Long, hot days by the water inspire dresses with airy silhouettes and vibrant tonal prints. Pair with light layers and go-to jackets for effortless outfits that transition seamlessly from day to night.

The tones are tropical; the florals are exotic. We'll bring the colour, you bring the style.
